

“HAUNTED”

The popular genre of private investigation takes a supernatural turn in the UPN drama HAUNTED, where crimes are solved with help from an inexplicable link between this world and the hereafter.

Frank Taylor is haunted, both literally and figuratively. Four years ago, he was a career police detective, had a great partner, Marcus Bradshaw, and a happy family life with his wife, Jessica, and their son. But it all changed when their child was kidnapped and never found. Frank, now legally but not emotionally divorced from Jessica, is working as a private eye when he finds his life changed forever after a near-death experience results in his being haunted by lost souls from beyond the grave that help him in solving a variety of cases. Though not all of the spirits are helpful, Frank is also haunted by Simon, the villainous ghost of a viscous killer.

As Frank reluctantly accepts his heightened awareness, he evolves from an incredulous non-believer to an intrigued witness to the beyond.

HAUNTED stars Matthew Fox ("Party of Five") as Frank Taylor, Russell Hornsby ("Gideon's Crossing") as Marcus Bradshaw, Lynn Collins as Jessica and John Mann (lead singer of the Canadian pop folk band Spirit of the West) as Simon.

HAUNTED is an Industry Entertainment Production, in association with Viacom Productions and CBS Productions. Executive producers are Emile Levisetti ("The Education of Max Bickford"), Keith Addis ("The Education of Max Bickford") and Scott Shepherd ("Outer Limits," "Quantum Leap"). Rick Ramage ("Stigmata") is co-executive producer. The supervising producer is Andrew Cosby. Ramage and Cosby are creators and writers.
